DAVE HEAVERLO
Wildcat Radio (8th Year)

Central Washington University baseball Hall-of-Famer Dave Heaverlo begins his eighth season this fall as the color commentator for the Wildcat football radio network.

Heaverlo, who played seven seasons in the major leagues, has been a fixture on the broadcasts since 1992.

He is also the sports director for radio station KBSN in Moses Lake where he does a sports talk show three times a week. He also has done commentary on regional broadcasts of University of Washington and Washington State baseball games.

Heaverlo, whose CWU uniform number (1) was retired in 1978, finished his four-year CWU career with a record of 31-8 and fanned 321 batters in 302 innings. He also saved six games and posted a career earned run average of 1.79.

Following his brilliant CWU playing career, he was drafted by the San Francisco Giants. In stints with the Giants (1975-77), Oakland (1978-79, 1981) and Seattle (1980-81), he posted a career record of 26-26. He also saved 26 games.

Following his playing career, he served as the pitching coach for the Tacoma Twins in the Pacific Coast League.

Misc: Was inducted into CWU's Hall-of-Fame in 1983 as a charter member. . .Has three sons, Jesse, 22, a senior at CWU; Jeff, 21, who pitches in the Seattle Mariner baseball organization, and Kyle, 18, who is a freshman at Big Bend Community College.
